Community Inclusion In Action

How does Community Inclusion work?

Community Inclusion starts with your interests, goals, and how you want to be part of your community. A PROVAIL Community Inclusion Coordinator works one-on-one with you to explore opportunities, make connections, and support you as you get involved.

What could I be doing?

It depends on what interests you. You might volunteer at a local organization, take a class, join a group, or attend community activities. Your Community Inclusion experience is built around what matters to you and the opportunities available in your community.

What's the goal?

The goal is to help you build meaningful connections in your community. Depending on what you want to work toward, Community Inclusion can also help you build skills, grow your independence, and explore interests that may become a pathway to future employment or create greater community connection.
